

EDF workshop on access to health

Tuesday 15th of June

2:00-5:00 pm (CET)

Background

Article 25 of the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities highlights that “persons with disabilities have the right to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health without discrimination on the basis of disability.” Under this article State Parties to the Convention have the obligation to ensure that persons with disabilities have access to the same range, quality and standard of free or affordable health care and programmes as provided to other persons.

Despite the Convention having been ratified by the EU and all Member States, persons with disabilities continue to face important barriers in accessing healthcare. The COVID-19 pandemic and its response have exacerbated cases of inequality and discrimination, with persons with disabilities not receiving accessible information on health and protection measures, and in some cases being denied treatment on the grounds of their disability. Even before the pandemic, persons with disabilities could not have equal access to quality healthcare due to inaccessible infrastructures and communication, and in some instances because of direct human rights violations such as involuntary treatment and placement in psychiatry, and forced sterilisation and abortion. It is also known that healthcare workers are rarely receiving training related to disability.

In 2021, 6 years after the adoption of Concluding observations on the EU by the CRPD Committee, what is the state of play for persons with disabilities in the EU? What role the EU can play to improve access to health and patients’ rights, including in cross border healthcare?

This workshop organised by the European Disability Forum, in collaboration with Autism Europe, the European Association of Service Providers for Persons with Disabilities, the European Network of (Ex-)Users and Survivors of Psychiatry, the European Union of the Deaf, Inclusion Europe, the International Federation for Spina Bifida and Hydrocephalus and Mental Health Europe, will look into the current situation in the EU and what is needed to ensure better access to quality healthcare for persons with disabilities.

Speakers include representatives from organisations of persons with disabilities, the Directorate General on Health of the European Commission and academic experts.

The workshop is open to EDF members and their members.

Objectives

- Present and discuss some of the issues faced by persons with disabilities in access to health in Europe
- Understand the role of the EU in relation to access to health, including cross-border healthcare
- Collect information from organisations of persons with disabilities on gaps and barriers in their countries

Accessibility settings

The workshop will be in English.

The plenary session will include international sign interpretation and live captioning in English.
